

Home Truths Testimonials

"It was amazing! We worked very well together and there was a lot of variety in the project."
Participant

"The fact that all the material was produced by young people will really inspire and challenge my students." Secondary school teacher

"I have developed a greater interest in photography. I loved having the chance to use the camera and be proud of my work!" Participant

"The team really enjoyed being able to talk about their lives and share their stories with a much wider audience. It was wonderful to see their confidence grow as they developed their talents for drawing, creative writing and photography."
Martin Sercombe

"This is a very exciting and thought provoking new resource for schools. I can't wait to try it out with my English and Drama students." Secondary school teacher

"The fact that all the material was produced by young people will really inspire and challenge my students." Secondary school teacher

"Many of our young people have underachieved in formal, more traditional educational settings so this project gave a diverse learning opportunity to our young people in a less formal format and setting.

Young people throughout Norfolk now have an age appropriate resource available to them that highlights the issues of homelessness from 'the experts'; young people who have experienced the issue themselves. The book is an important resource for the multiple agencies throughout Norfolk that work with young people and homelessness issues on an everyday basis."
Matt Garrod: Operational Manager: The Benjamin Foundation

